Raw Materials

In addition to the supply chain for finished goods, John Cotton Group Ltd is also aware of the importance of its raw material supply chain and the sustainability of raw material suppliers.

Respect of Human Rights

JCG believes that respect for human rights is integral to being a responsible company. The prevention of forced, bonded and trafficked labour are key elements in the John Cotton Ethical Trading Policy.

Promoting Human Rights across the business

JCG has been a member of Sedex (Social Ethical Data Exchange) since 2005 to have our site(s) ethically audited by an independent 3rd Party to the 2 pillar Smeta Standard which covers ETI Code (Ethical Trading Initiative), Management Systems and Code Implementation, Entitlement to Work, Immigration & Subcontracting. This will be upgraded in 2016 to the 4 pillar Smeta Standard which will include Environment & Business ethics. Only specifically trained and evaluated auditors are allowed to perform our audits.

For suppliers in other countries we have a program of the Smeta Ethical 2 pillar (plus extra customer requirements where required) since 2009. This is being expanded continuously. John Cotton Ltd also welcomes and submits to our specific customer's ethical audits and requirements on our sites.

In 2016 JCG are expanding our commitment to Modern Slavery include to become a Business partner in the Stronger Together Initiative.

In 2016 JCG are requiring all Labour Providers to become members of Sedex, a Business Partner in the Stronger Together Partnership and submit to an independent ALP (Association of Labour Providers) audit.

Responsible Sourcing

JCG is committed to responsible and sustainable business principles throughout the supply chain including the sourcing of raw materials. This includes materials whose cultivation or production presents a specific sustainability risk. John Cotton Group specifically prohibits sourcing in regions where the risk of modern slavery and other labour issues is recognised, this includes the prohibition of cotton sourced from Uzbekistan. In 2016 JCG are expanding the commitment and core values to all our suppliers providing raw materials.

Where improvements are not made within the given time or there is an unwillingness to address the situation JCG will terminate the business relationship. However reasonable amount of time is given to rectify non compliance to minimise any potential and / or detrimental impact on workers lives.

John Cotton Group Limited Compliance Policy

Compliance with the JCG Ethical Trading Principles is a requirement of doing business with JCG. JCG works with its suppliers to support their compliance, and may take action against those that do not demonstrate sufficient commitment to the principles, or are in breach of them. In the event of a supplier being found to be involved in modern slavery JCG will take action to help safeguard the workers well being.

Training

In 2016 JCG are introducing training for Stronger Together for key employees. This will form part of employees Induction in the company.

Looking Ahead

JCG will continue to develop employee and supplier training and target areas of the business where there is potential risk of labour rights abuses including incidences of Modern Slavery. JCG believes that training for employees and its supply chain, with an increased emphasis on transparency throughout the supply chain may help identify modern slavery risks.
